Friday, October 9. 1713.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Oct. 13. &c.

Vienna, September 30.

THE Emperour holds frequent Councils on the present Situation of Affairs; and France having declared that they will not abide by the Neutrality of Italy, under Pretext that it has been violated by our Troops, his Imperial Majesty has sent Order to eight Regiments which were to have come from thence to the Upper Rhine, to continue there, to the end there may be a sufficient Number of Troops there to observe the Motions which the Enemies might make. The Emperour has ('tis said) signified to the Duke of Savoy, that he may go and take Possession provisionally of the Kingdom of Sicily, not in the Quality of King, but as Administrator, till it can be fairly decided whether a Kingdom can be disposed of, without the Consent and in Prejudice of the rightful Proprietor. The Emperour has signified to the King of Sweden, that if he will pass through Hungary and Transylvania to return to his own Dominions, he will cause him to be furnished with whatever he may want on the Way: But if the Ottoman Porte would let his Swedish Majesty go, without first reimbursing them the Sums with which they have furnished him during his Stay in Turkey, 'tis doubted whether he will accept his Imperial Majesty's Offer, because the Ambassador of France has advised him to embark for Marseilles, in order to return to Sweden by the Way of France. The Departure of Count Gallas on his Embassy for the Court of Rome, remains suspended, till it be seen what Turn the Disputes between the Pope and his Imperial Majesty, upon what has happened in Naples about the Ecclesiastical Immunity, will take. The Plague decreases daily in this City, which causes inexpressible Joy; but 'tis not so at Prague the Capital City of Bohemia, where it increases. We have Advice from Rome, that the Marquis Erba, who has lived here some time in such narrow Circumstances that he could not put himself into Equipage and keep a Coach, is become universal Heir of the Prince Don Livio Odescalchi, and consequently Prince of Sirmia in Hungary, and Duke of Bracciano in the Kingdom of Naples.

Leipsic, Oct. 4. Letters from Warsaw of the 25th of September advise, that the Great General of the Army of the Crown had confirmed the Account he had sent of the Retreat of the Turks and Tartars who were advanced towards the Dniester, and that the other Troops which had advanced towards the Frontiers of the Muscovite Ukraine, had likewise retired. The Baron de Leuwendahl, Great Marshal of the Electoral Court, who is returned hither from Warsaw, confirms likewise that the Turks and Tartars are retired from the Frontiers of Podolia, and that King Stanislaus and the Palatine of Kiovia are still under Confinement at Bender: That his Czarian Majesty had dispatched to Adrianople by an Express, the Ratification of the last Treaty concluded with the Porte; on Condition that the Porte abandon the Party of the King of Sweden and his Adherents: And 'twas said the Grand Signior had accepted these Conditions, and would return to Constantinople the Beginning of the Month of November. As the Plague rages with great Violence at Prague and at Ratisbon, all imaginable Precautions are taken here to prevent its spreading hither, particularly during our Fair.
